

Suction Units For Centralized Vacuum Systems

The pump or the suction unit creates a vacuum inside the transferring line (piping and material arriving filter) which generates an air flow that transports the product in the process of centralized vacuum system.